

The primary disconnect is the device that joins the MagneBlast circuit breaker to the primary bus of the switchgear through a plug in connection between the circuit breaker bushing and the stationary contact assembly inside of a porcelain or epoxy glass insulated tube.

Only PSC has the GE tooling and original design documentation to manufacture new Primary Disconnects to the original specifications. Talk to us about your requirements.

